At the Synod of the Christian Reformed church which was held in this city it was decided to hold the next meeting here in 1904. It was decided that De Wachter, the church publication printed here be not enlarged and a resolution to establish a daily publication for Michigan in connection with De Wachter was defeated.

Down at historic old Port Sheldon, one of the very oldest settlements in western Michigan, where a town was erected in wild cat days, and which went to destruction and disappeared many years ago, Chicago parties have bought a large tract of land and are erecting a large summer hotel. It contains 75 rooms, and Mr. Frederick, the manager of the project, will cater to the Chicago trade.

People living along the old Chicago & Michigan Lake Shore road bed in that section are so anxious for a railroad that they pledged themselves to give the entire right of way between Holland and Flint and offered to clear the right of way and help build fences and depots and donate labor to do at least a part of the grade work. All this and more to have an Ottawa Station correspondent told the Grand Rapids Herald.

The Pere Marquette Railway company has made arrangements with Wanton Stanley Webb, formerly a war correspondent in the Philippines, for an exhibition at Ottawa Beach of a car he fitted up containing products of all kinds gathered by him in the Philippine and Hawaiian islands. The company has built a special track leading from the main line at Ottawa Beach upon which the car has been placed.

The Goodrich line tug Arctic lost her smokestack and whistle pipe by being struck by the Rush street bridge at Chicago Sunday morning. The tug was waiting to tow the Christopher Columbus out of port and held a position beneath the bridge. The steamer Puritan, of the Graham and Morton line, whistled for the bridge to open and the structure swung in response to the signal only to catch the upper works of the tug.

What was once known as the "Big Marsh" in Robinson and Olive townships will soon be one of the largest stock ranches in the state. F. T. Conrad and R. F. Worley of Chicago has purchased over four thousand acres of this marsh and are now engaged in stocking it with cattle. Horses as well as cattle will be raised. A camp has been established at the northern end of the marsh for the large number of men who are engaged in working upon the place. This season's hay will be shipped to the eastern market by the thousands of tons. A steam baler will be put in requisition. Something over 8,000 posts and 15 tons of wire will be used in fencing the great ranch. The owners believe that the marsh bottom contains petroleum and will bore for oil this fall.

A ruling has also been made that where patients admitted to a contract hospital will require more than twenty days' hospital treatment, immediate application for their removal to the nearest marine hospital must be made, providing the condition of the patient will admit of transportation.

The death of Alvin B. Charter occurred last Monday night. For some time he had suffered with heart trouble but death was directly due to a stroke of apoplexy from which he failed to rally. Mr. Charter, whose age was 60 years, came to Holland from Rochester, New York, a number of years ago, and was numbered among the most highly respected residents of the city. He leaves a wife and three children, Frank, Fred and Miss Dolly Charter. The funeral was held this afternoon from the house, 182 West Ninth street, Rev. Adam Clarke officiating.

A despatch from Allegan says that Allegan may yet have boat communication with Saugatuck. Capt. Heath of the latter village has run his boat as far as the Calkins bridge, which will be opened to let the craft pass, and when he reaches Huggins bridge he will blow the boat's whistle and demand passage there. As the river is a navigable stream to Allegan he claims he can compel the township to place a draw on the bridge or raise it so he can get through. This attempt, if successful, will give the resorts that are springing up all along the river regular boat service and help to interest resorters.

A. Ver Lee and Henry Grevengood, two of the local milk dealers, have adopted a new system of tickets that is commendable from a sanitary standpoint. Instead of having the regular pasteboard tickets they have small books of tickets and as milk is obtained by customers these tickets are detached. According to this plan each ticket is handled but once and by one customer instead of being passed from one to the other until worn out like was done with the old kind. Physicians say that contagious diseases are often communicated by the old method as the tickets are changed from one family to another.

It was raining yesterday morning when the time came for the Post Boy to leave for the excursions to Montague to see the ball game between the Holland and the White Lakers and the fans thinking that no game would be called did not put in an appearance and the trip was not made.

Coster of this city treasurer, and appointed him to the office of Mutual Benefit association organizer. The convention closed Monday evening with a banquet at the Fraser House. One of the cars of the Grand Rapids, Saugatuck & Lake Michigan railway ran into an open switch and collided with a freight car Monday afternoon at Saugatuck. The front end of the passenger car was badly smashed. The telephone lines nearby were mixed in the collision and as a result the Saugatuck telephone system was put out of business for a short time.

Johnney Boone, the most clever trotting horse driver, has been in Traverse City this week getting Mc Kinley, M. Boone, Sr.'s fast trotter, ready for the races. He will be joined today by his father and Albert and it is not amiss to say that these three members of the Boone family will be on the anxious seat when Mc Kinley starts in the race today. Mc Kinley will race in the 2:16 class. He is eligible to the 2:20 class but as there will be no races for that class he will have to run in the 2:16. Johnney will drive him and he says in a letter to relatives here that the horse is in good trim and feels like making a good run. If Mc Kinley does as good on the track this summer as he did last season Mr. Boone will follow the circuit until fall.

The great downpour of rain this summer is giving farmers located in the lowlands many a headache. Farmers having swamp lands have as yet been unable to get out and work them. Most of the low lands in fact have been, and are still submerged. The loss of these farmers will be heavy. The celery raisers are having a particularly hard time of it, as even in the dry season their horses' hoofs when working the land must be provided with cushions to prevent them from sinking in the soft earth. This all means a fancy price for celery the coming season. Corn too, is having a hard tussle of it in this weather. Farmers predict that the corn crop in Michigan will be small this year. The farmers have also been having a hard time of it getting their hay in dry. There is an abundance of hay however.

NEIGHBORING TOWNS.

Lake and Marine.

Lightkeeper William Robinson of White Lake has failed just two nights in thirty years to light his lamp. The record is probably unequalled elsewhere on the great lakes.

An unusual arrival in the port of New York was that of a lake-built schooner, the Linerla, constructed at Manitowoc, Wis., in 1894, and sailing from Milwaukee. The vessel sailed from Menominee, Mich., on April 28. She brought to New York a cargo of lumber from Three Rivers, Que., and was 23 days on the voyage from that port. It is seldom that a sailing vessel of the great lakes goes to the Atlantic. The Linerla will go from New York to New Orleans.

The Goodrich Transportation company has advanced passenger rates between Muskegon and Chicago. A single fare is now $1.50 instead of $1, and with a berth makes the cost of passage $2.50. The round-trip rate is $2.75, and with berth each way puts the total cost of the trip at $4.75. The round trip rate with berth formerly was $3.50. The new rate will continue in force until September 1, when the old tariff will be restored. It is understood the Barry line will make no advance.

Graafschap.

The residents of Graafschap can rival the Filmore people in complaints this week. The Filmore correspondent wrote that "bugs are eating tomato plants, chickens have devastated the pickles patch, etc., etc." To that tale of woe we can add that the rainy weather makes it disagreeable for those farmers who have hay, for it cannot be dried but must be left on the ground to rot. Not only that but those who have recently purchased haylofters have had no chance to use them. When will the clouds roll by?

Rev. Drucker of Drenthe, occupied the pulpit in Rev. Kelzer's church Sunday.

William G. Mulder, who is employed as a stenographer in Grand Rapids, is the guest of his parents. He will return to Grand Rapids after the Fourth.

When they secure the acreage they want they are going to start their business with at least 10,000 chickens. A specialty will be made also of ducks, geese, turkeys and other poultry. The Chicago market will receive the poultry.

More real estate has been changing hands in Ottawa county the past three months than ever before in the history of four counties. At the register's office an average of 10 sales of property a day has been recorded.

President Lands Chicago Project.

Mrs. Matilda B. Carse, founder of the proposed Women's temple, in Chicago, has received the following letter from President Roosevelt: "I have been deeply interested to learn of the work your association has undertaken in erecting the magnificent Women's temple in Chicago as a memorial to Miss Willard. It gives me genuine pleasure to send to you and the members of the board of trustees heartiest congratulations upon the progress already made and best wishes for the early and complete success of the undertaking."

Something New for Spencer.

Herbert Spencer is shocked at what he calls the "rebarbarization" of the world, says the Milwaukee Sentinel. He has evidently been studying the newspaper accounts of college hazings.

CORN HURT BY RAINS.

Lake Region and Upper Mississippi Valley Affected by Wet Weather.

Washington, July 2.—The following is the weather bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions:

The northern portion of the country east of the Rocky mountains have experienced another decidedly cool week, with generally abundant rainfall. In the southern states the week averaged warm, with phenomenally heavy rains, where they were greatly needed, over a large part of Texas and portions of northern Louisiana and southern Arkansas. Much needed rains also occurred in portions of the central gulf districts, Tennessee, and the middle Atlantic states, but drought conditions are beginning to be quite seriously felt in the east gulf states. Violent local storms caused a large amount of damage in central Indiana and southern Ohio. On the Pacific coast the week was too cool for favorable growth in Washington and Oregon, but satisfactory conditions prevailed in California, where all crops are maturing rapidly and harvest is in general progress.

The continued low temperatures throughout the corn belt have checked the growth of corn, and heavy rains interrupted cultivation over large areas, these unfavorable effects being more general over the northern portion of the principal corn states, where warm sunshine and dry weather are greatly needed, especially in the lake region and upper Mississippi Valley. The crop is in excellent condition in Kansas, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, and in the south Atlantic states, and while recent rains have greatly benefited late corn in the west gulf district, the early planted is a very poor crop.

Over the southwestern portion of the winter wheat belt the bulk of the winter wheat crop has been cut, but harvesting has been much delayed over the northern portion of the western district, and generally throughout the eastern portion. In portions of the central and upper Ohio valley the crop has sustained serious damage from severe local storms. Cool, moist weather has checked ripening over the northern portion of the winter wheat region, and lodging is reported from some districts. On the north Pacific coast the crop has made favorable progress, except in eastern Washington, where rain is needed. Heavy yields are reported from central and northern California.

The general condition of spring wheat is promising, although its advancement has been somewhat checked in portions of the spring wheat region. Considerable lodging has resulted from high winds in eastern South Dakota, and some east is reported from southern Minnesota. The crop is now heading in the northern portion of the spring wheat region.

Considerable lodging of oats are reported from the states of Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys, but on the whole this crop has progressed favorably and a general improvement is indicated in the middle Atlantic states and upper Ohio valley. A large crop is being harvested in Oklahoma and Kansas, and the outlook in Nebraska is excellent.

MICHIGAN REPUBLICANS.

Gov. Bliss Is Renominated on the First Ballot—Rest of the Ticket.

Detroit, June 27.—No surprises developed in Thursday's state republican convention, and as was expected Gov. Aaron T. Bliss, of Saginaw, was renominated for a second term on the first ballot. Showed His Temper.

Washington, July 1.—Senator Bailey (Tex.) made a violent personal attack on Senator Beveridge (Ind.) on the floor of the senate yesterday after adjournment and threatened the life of the Indian, but was restrained by bystanders. The attack was the result of a remark by Senator Beveridge that statements made by Senator Bailey concerning government officials were unwarranted.

Harrington, of the Mohawk division of the New York Central railroad announces that the twentieth century limited broke the world's record for long-distance running on its trip Monday from Albany to Syracuse. BEHIND ON ARMY REGISTER.

War Department Finds Difficulty in Determining the Position of Numerous New Officers.

The war department is six months behind in its annual publication known as the Army Register. This is due to the confusion which has arisen in the preparation of the lineal and relative lists of army officers and the difficulty in determining the position of the numerous appointees to the army during the last 15 months. It was expected that Secretary Root would give his approval to the lists this week, but at the last moment it was discovered that signal corps officers were protesting against the construction of a law which placed them at the foot of the relative list, regardless of the fact that most of them were entitled to positions much higher in the list by reason of prior service in the volunteers.

This question does not affect the promotion of the officers of the signal corps, but it has an importance in giving them precedence over lieutenants of the artillery, cavalry and infantry, and govern their seniority on courts of inquiry and courts-martial.

More important still, however, is the question of quarters. The highest ranking officer at a post has the selection of the place where he lives and the choosing of a habitation is governed by the position of an officer on the relative list. For this reason the signal corps men are anxious that they shall not be slighted, and through Gen. Greeley, chief signal officer, they have sent an appeal to Secretary Root that their prior service shall not be entirely ignored.

The protest has served to delay approval of the completed lists and to postpone further publication of the annual register.

SHORTER MISSISSIPPI ROUTE.

A Canal to Avoid the Rapids Near Rock Island Is Projected and Declared Feasible.

A canal is being projected by well-known men of Whiteside county, Ill., to run along the Illinois banks of the Mississippi river from Fulton to the three cities of Moline, Rock Island and Davenport to avoid the dangerous rapids in the Mississippi above Rock Island and also to shorten the distance by water from Clinton to Davenport, Ia., by about 70 miles.

The canal as projected would leave the Mississippi at Fulton, run east 17 miles to Rock river, near Lyndon, and then south to the Hennepin canal, which was constructed three years ago and enters the Mississippi near Milan. The new waterway would virtually be a changing of the course of the Mississippi, making it flow more nearly straight south, shortening distances at least 100 miles between large cities on the river and avoiding the dangers to navigators at Rock Island, where the United States has spent thousands of dollars.

Engineers who have examined and surveyed the route declare it feasible and say that when completed the canal will be one of the great inland waterways of the middle west and mark an epoch in the revival of traffic from St. Paul to Peoria and points on the Illinois river by making them accessible through the Hennepin canal.

REVOLVERS FREELY USED.

Serious Disturbance Occurs with Strikers at William A. Colliery at Old Forge.

SURVEYOR ASSAULTED, USES HIS GUN.

Coal and Iron Police Come to His Aid Against 500 Enraged Foreigners and Fire Their Guns—Not Known That Anyone Was Hit—Strike Pickets Arrested.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 2.—There was a serious disturbance at the William A. colliery at Old Forge shortly after noon Wednesday. When a member of the surveying corps came out of the barricade he was attacked by about 500 foreigners, who threw stones at him. The surveyor pulled his revolver and fired in the direction of the crowd. Then the coal and iron police at the colliery took a hand and began firing. The surveyor jumped in a wagon and made his escape to Pittston. So far as can be learned no one was hurt in the firing.

Strike Pickets Arrested.

Hazleton, Pa., July 2.—John Shovelin, John Gillett, Joseph Schaner and John Mehatzi, pickets stationed along the road leading to the Drifton colliery of Cox & Co., to prevent nonunion men from going to work, were arrested Wednesday by colliery guards and taken to jail at Wilkesbarre. It is alleged that one of the pickets drew a revolver when ordered by a guard to permit men to pass the line. The strikers report that the guard threatened to shoot unless his order was obeyed, whereupon Shovelin also whipped out a weapon, which was knocked from his hand by one of the deputies. A scramble ensued in which the pickets became involved. Sheriff Jacobs was summoned, and while he persuaded the crowd that had gathered near the scene to disperse the prisoners were hustled to the county seat.

Charged with Rioting.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 2.—Joseph Schaner, John Shovelin, John Gillett and John Mehatzi, the Freedland strikers, were arraigned before Magistrate Pollock, in this city, Wednesday charged with rioting and intimidating nonunion workmen. At strike headquarters it was stated that President Mitchell would return to Wilkesbarre Thursday night.

May Settle Michigan Strike.

Saginaw, Mich., July 2.—A conference of the coal mine operators and workers of Michigan on the differences which have kept the miners of this state on strike for nearly two months, was begun here Wednesday afternoon with President John Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers of America, present. Minerva, O., July 2.—With a rumbling and grinding that could be heard for miles, the tunnel on the Lake Erie, Alliance & Wheeling railroad, near here, caved in its entire length early Wednesday.

Work was commenced some time ago to uncover and make a cut of the hill and some of it had been accomplished. A few of the men had gone to work Wednesday morning, and a hundred men were preparing to go in, when without warning the entire hill settled down on the tracks. Just how many men were caught and injured is not known, but all the doctors from here have been taken to the scene. Traffic on the road will be stopped for quite a while as a result of the disaster.

Later it developed that only four men were caught in the cave-in. Their injuries are not serious.

GREAT LOSS BY STORMS.

Rain, Wind and Lightning Cause Almost Incalculable Damage in the West and South.

MANY PEOPLE ARE KILLED OR INJURED.

Crops Damaged in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Arkansas, Tennessee and Texas—The Loss Will Reach a High Figure—Cyclone in Dakota Kills Three.

Chicago, June 30.—Rain, wind and lightning have caused almost incalculable damage through Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Arkansas, Tennessee, Texas and other states in the south.

Evansville, Ind., suffered heavily, and near St. Wendel, in Posey county, the home of Frank Goedde was wrecked and Frank Goedde, Sr., aged 80; Frank Goedde, aged seven, and Chris Laugle, aged 25, were killed, and Frank Goedde, Jr., fatally injured. The home and barn of Peter Wolfe, two miles away, were wrecked. One person (unknown) was killed. The storm cut a path about 200 feet wide and left a track two miles in length.

Crops Damaged.

Madison county, Ill., is a heavy sufferer, entire fields of stacked grain being ruined.

Two days ago oats promised the biggest yield in the history of Christian county, Ill., but it is predicted now that not more than one-half a crop can be gathered. The damage to oats and wheat in Knox county is estimated at $50,000. Corn is hardly far enough advanced to determine the damage, but it will be considerably affected. At Pana stock was killed by lightning and the streets of the city are flooded to the extent that traffic is suspended. Thousands of acres of corn and oats in the neighborhood of Fairbury are ruined, and people residing in the bottom lands, which have not overflowed for years, have been obliged to move.

Flood at Alton, Ill.

St. Louis, June 30.—One of the most distressing floods in the history of Alton, Ill., and vicinity resulted Sunday from the heavy rains of Friday and Saturday. At four o'clock in the afternoon it was estimated that 10,000 acres had been covered by the overflow of Wood river, which is three to six miles wide. Most of this land is either occupied by manufacturing interests or planted in crops.

Damage in Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., July 2.—Detroit is having a clear, sunny day for the first time since June 21.—The rainfall for June was 6.97 inches, an excess of more than three inches. Corn, late potatoes and beans in Michigan have suffered severely from the heavy rains. Wheat is said to be running more to stalks than to heads, while the lack of sunshine has kept the hay from ripening. Plenty of warm sunshine through July, however, will repair to a great extent the damage done by the excessive rains.

Killed in Dakota Cyclone.

Sioux City, Ia., June 28.—Latest reports from the district in eastern South Dakota and northwestern Iowa swept by the tornado Wednesday morning increases the list of dead to three. They are: Mrs. Frank Johnson; of Hudson; Mrs. Bierce, of Volin, and Knud Rye, of Irene.

He was judge for 18 years. He led the volunteers from Cass county in the civil war, and again returned to law. He was prosecuting attorney of the Eleventh judicial district of Indiana two terms.

How Congressman Hamilton Does It.

The Washington Post relates the following true story of Congressman E. L. Hamilton of Michigan and ten successful efforts to secure an appropriation for the bridging of Paw Paw river.

When Mr. Hamilton wants anything, he wants it badly, and will not stop fighting until it is obtained. Once upon a time, and not a long time ago, he wanted a bridge built over the Paw Paw river in his district. He sought the proper officials and pestered them insistently. Still the bridge was not built, and, from all indications, it would not be built for a long time. Mr. Hamilton was patient, personified. Patience, however, finally ceased to be a virtue, and the representative from the middle west was mad. One morning he went to the war department with blood in his eye, strength in his arm and a bottle of Paw Paw water in his pocket.

"Here it is," he shouted, as he rushed into the office of the secretary of war.

"Here is what?" coldly inquired the secretary of war as he looked at the little bottle of water.

"Here is some Paw Paw water," emphatically declared Mr. Hamilton.

"And I want an order for those bridges."

"What has the water got to do with it?" questioned the official.

"Why, this is water from the river."

"What for?"

"To show you there is water in the river. I was afraid you thought the Paw Paw was a race track, an Indian village, a principle of the Populistic party, or something like that. It is a river. This is water from it. We want a draw bridge over the river. We want them for two. We want them for trains to run over. We want to accommodate the expanding commerce of Benton Harbor. Do we get the draw bridges?"

"What does the chief engineer say?"

"He says we ought to have the draws."

The chief engineer was sent for. He said Paw Paw should have two bridges. The order was signed.

Siegmund Guthman Commits Suicide.

Siegmund Guthman, vice president of the Guthman, Carpenter & Telling shoe factory of this city, shot and killed himself at his home in Chicago yesterday morning. Leaving his bed shortly after 1 o'clock in the morning Guthman went to bureau drawer.

Securing a revolver he entered a closet, placed the weapon to his right temple and pulled the trigger. When relatives of the man entered the room he was found dead on the floor. Carpenter, one of the members of the firm said he could not explain the cause of the shooting.

"Mr. Guthman had been connected with this firm for many years," he said. "Of late he had not been in the best of health and this seemed to worry him. Only yesterday he visited his physician and was advised to take a vacation. The only reason that I can attribute for the act is ill health."

The unfavorable weather interfered with the attendance at the opening of the spiritualist camp meeting at Jemison Park last Sunday but quite a number were present. The meetings held during the week have attracted considerable attention but not until tonight is a large crowd expected. Tonight's program will be special. After Mrs. George Gladys Cooley's lecture, Rev. W. L. Brown, of Cleveland, Ohio, will give a full light materialization of hands, faces, slate writing, Spirit messages, voices, etc. Skeptics are requested to bring their slates. Among the mediums present, who will deliver lectures at various times are Mrs. Albright of Philadelphia, Mrs. Holmes of Menominee, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Carpenter of Detroit, Frank M. Foster of Cleveland, W. O. Jessup of Anderson, Ind., Mesdames Augusta Ferris, Blake and Coffman of Grand Rapids, Miss Hattie Woodburg of Haslett Park and Mrs. George Gladys Cooley, of Chicago.

Additional Local.

Will Blom has opened a pool and billiard hall on River Street.

The meeting of the Grand River Valley Horticultural society which was to be held at Macatawa Park Tuesday, the 8th of July, has been postponed to a later date.

The farm house to A. Klinge of Borculo was during last night's storm struck by lightning, which shattered the chimney and did other slight damage. Mrs. Klinge was slightly burned. The house is insured in J.C. Pasts agencies.

There was fire in an incubator this morning. Billy Van Dort's chicken coop back of Van Der Veere's meat market caught fire about 3:30 o'clock from a lamp that was placed in the incubator. The flames were speedily extinguished by the fire department. Fourteen chickens were burned. In all "Shorty's" loss amounts to $25.

Fourth of July, with its fire works, its ball games, its oratory, its accidents to small boys, will soon pass into history there to remain until next year when it will again be celebrated. But there is one thing that will not pass from the minds of the people of Holland and that is the conviction that Jas. A. Brouwer's furniture store on River street is the place to secure bargains in bed room suits, draperies, linoleum, carpets and rugs. It will pay you to go to the store that does business on a cash or credit basis.

Here is one man's summer resorting experience. He took enough of his household goods to start housekeeping on a small scale, loaded them on a comfortable family carriage drawn by a meek looking horse and, with his family, turned his back on the cares of the city and went to the park expecting to spend the time that he was away from his office in fishing in Black Lake, in bathing in Lake Michigan, and in gazing seaward from the porch of his comfortable cottage nestling in the hills. But lo and behold! The storms came, the rain fell in torrents, the breath of winter haunted the air, the sun, powerless to cope with the murky clouds, withdrew from sight; and instead of joy sorrow was with him; instead of sunshine rain came, instead of warmth, cold came. There was no comfort in resorting and the little band turned their faces homeward and left behind the uncertainties of park life. But as they did so a red glare appeared in the western sky. It was the sun and mighty were the rays of heat it sent forth. Too late however to cause a change of plans and the resorters returned to Holland to face the heat of city life. Many others have had a similar experience this spring but the dark days have passed and the silver lining shows on the clouds. Summer winds are driving the frost from the air and the resort season bids fair to be good in spite of the autumnal spring.

Caricatures of the base ball players are on exhibition at B. J. Reynolds's & Co's. cigar store and attract great attention. They portray the boys in amusing style. Ball, with toe elevated and body twisted like the letter S, is about to deliver the ball to Van der Hill, who with head incased in a bird cage says "Shoot it!" Tibald with a bat that resembles a cantbook stands in expectant attitude ready to knock the ball over the south fence; Karsten with legs extended and mammoth feet covering territory enough for a good sized anchor is on first; Andrews is on short with a pose that shows he is looking for "canofkies."

Vanden Berg is careening through the air in an attempt to steal every base and run away with the home plate. Root standing on two pipe-stems is gazing with anxious eye towards the smiling sky while the ball sizes by his wide extended hands; Fairfield is squatted on third waiting for the clouds to roll by; DePree is in batsman attitude ready to annihilate space with the mighty bat. But the pictures that attract the most attention are those of Con DePree, president of the association, and Ben Van Raalte, Jr., the secretary. These gentlemen, arrayed in boys waists and knickerbockers and resplendent in loud stockings, on a pole reaching from shoulder to shoulder are carrying home the money which amounts to but $3,100,000. The caricatures are the work of Will Hopkins and are very cleverly done. Mr. Hopkins has also taken the photographs of the members of the club they are displayed in the cigar store window.

Van Lente—Vander Hill.

A very pretty wedding occurred last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Van Lente, West Twelfth street, when, their daughter Jennie was united in marriage to James Vander Hill.

It was a very quiet affair and was attended only by immediate relatives. Rev. S. Vander Werf performed the ceremony. The bride was charmingly gowned in cream silk mull and was unattended. Miss Eva St. Clair played the wedding march, Anthony Van Ry was master of ceremonies and the Misses DeGraaf and Lola St. Clair were ushers. While the ceremony was being performed the bridal party stood near a bank of palms, ferns and smilax. White and green decorations prevailed throughout the house and the dining room was decorated with white roses and lilies set in green.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served by the Misses Anna Ter Vree, Marcia Smith, Nellie Van Lente, Anna DeVries, and Messrs Albert Kleis and Ralph Van Lente. Mr. and Mrs. Van der Hill will live in this city.

The winds blew, the cold came and the rain fell but no effect did these actions of the elements have upon those who gathered at Hotel Macatawa to take part in the opening hop last Saturday night. Mrs. M. A. Ryder, the proprietress, and James S. Whelan, the manager, hung the lath string on the outer side and those who entered had a royal time. Music was furnished by the Cincinnati orchestra that has been engaged for the season and it reached the midnight hour before the guests thought of departing.

Progressive pedro was the order of the evening, head prizes were won by Mrs. Hosford and J. Tromp and consolation prizes by Mrs. J. Tromp and B. A. Mulder. Dainty refreshments were served and then the time was passed in telling stories and perpetrating puns. Mrs. Belger proved a most charming hostess and also proved her right to be reckoned among the greatest victims of the punsters. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. Tromp, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Keller, Mrs. Wm. Hosford, Mrs. Wm. Jernigen, Miss Mabelle Hart, of Michawauka, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mulder and Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Mulder of Holland.

WATCHING FOR CYCLONES.

Residents of the Southwest Fear Them as the West Indian Islanders Do Volcanoes.

Recent disturbances by volcanic eruption in the island of Martinique and Guatemala bring out in full measure the sympathy of the residents of the cyclone district of the southwest. The cyclone is by far the worst form of disaster that visits this country, coming at unexpected times and dealing death and destruction in widespread manner, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

When the summer days bring waves of heat across the stretches of hot sod, then the residents of the prairie west begin to cast their eyes to the windward. They are watching the formation of the clouds, and he who could not distinguish a cyclone bank from any other is indeed a tenderfoot. Then the cry of warning is carried across the plains, and the members of every family make for their cyclone cellars. These cellars differ in various communities. The popular cyclone cellar on the plains of western Kansas, where cyclones a few years ago were almost a daily occurrence, are ordinary sod houses, built low and strong.

In the Russian communities of Kansas these cyclone houses serve as the family residence the year around. They are about seven feet high, and built exceptionally strong. The roofs are slanting, and the houses are set to the wind that is, the ends are faced toward the east and west.

In Oklahoma every farmhouse is backed up by a cave, a hole dug into the ground, and covered by an earthen roof. Some farmers have gone so far in protecting themselves against cyclones that they have a small cannon loaded with salt and buckshot, which is fired into the whirling clouds as they approach. This has been known to turn the course of a storm. It is a common event to dismise a school on the plains of Oklahoma when a bank of clouds begins to arise in the southwest. These wind and rain storms are becoming more uncommon every day, and it is believed that the planting of trees and the settlement of the barren sod has had much to do with it. Before Oklahoma was thoroughly well settled dozens of cyclones were reported every day in the hot months. The writer was in the Newkirk one day in the early period of that town's existence, and saw seven cyclones form in the afternoon. All of them followed the course of the Arkansas river, and "struck" in the Osage Indian reservation, far to the westward.

THE CAPTURE OF MANILA

Admiral Dewey Says the City Surrendered When the Spanish Fleet Was Sunk.

MAKES LIGHT OF AGUINALDO'S CLAIM.

Never Recognized the Filipino Government—Formal Surrender Took Place in Accordance with Definite Understanding with Spanish Governor General.

Washington, June 27.—Admiral Dewey testified yesterday before the senate committee on Philippines concerning the capture of Manila, when he was in command of the American naval forces in Philippine waters.

The admiral was questioned by Senator Lodge. He said he had first heard from Aguinaldo and his friends about April 1, 1898, a month before the battle in Manila bay, when it became certain that there was to be war.

In explanation of his statement that the city of Manila had surrendered on the day of the destruction of the Spanish fleet, Admiral Dewey said that during the naval engagement several guns had been fired at him from the shore batteries and that as soon as the Spanish squadron was destroyed he steamed toward the city, sending word to the governor that if another shot was fired from the shore he would fire upon the city. "The governor replied," the admiral went

CONGRESS ADJOURNS.

Finishes the Work of the First Session After Disposing of All Important Measures.

Washington, July 2.—The first session of the Fifty-seventh congress came to a close yesterday, both houses adjourning at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The final hours both in the senate and the lower branch were busy ones and much routine work was rushed through. The Philippine government bill finally was agreed to and has been signed by the president.

President Roosevelt went to the capitol to facilitate the work and sign the bills passed in the final sessions.

In each house the last scenes were most interesting, and the galleries were crowded. When Speaker Henderson dropped the gavel in the house there was an outburst of enthusiasm not witnessed since the Spanish war. Members joined in singing patriotic songs, and a roar of cheers drowned out the chorus when Speaker Henderson and Representative Hooker embraced each other during the singing of the stirring air of "Dixie." Speaker Henderson, in closing the session, said no house of representatives since the adoption of the constitution had done so much work as this one.

During the last hours of the senate there was a tart debate on the Philippine question, participated in by Messrs. Carmack, Spooner, Culberson, McComas and Lodge. Senator Allison announced that the appropriations for

RESULTS OF SEVEN MONTHS' SESSION.

Marked by Exceptional Activity, with Numerous Questions of Far-Reaching General Interest Engaging Attention—Cuban Reciprocity Bill Failed to Pass.

Washington, July 2.—The work of congress has closed, and it is now possible to sum up the record of what has been accomplished during the past seven months, which constitute the first session of the 57th congress. The session has been marked by exceptional business activity, with many questions of far-reaching general interest engaging attention. With the exception of the Cuban reciprocity bill most of the larger subjects of general legislation have been enacted as laws or will become such before the session closes.

Important Legislation.

Notable among these larger measures is the isthmian canal bill, which consummates the efforts of a half century to link together the waters of the Atlantic and the Pacific. Aside from its national and international importance, this bill probably involves a larger sum of money than that covering any other single undertaking by the government outside of war expenditures. The Philippine civil government bill is another measure of far-reaching importance, extending to our remote Pacific possessions a system of internal civil government, together with coinage, currency, banking, corporation, timber, and homestead laws. Among the other important general laws enacted are those repealing the war revenue taxes; extending and making more effective the Chinese exclusion laws; establishing a tariff for goods to and from the Philippines; extending the charter of national banks for 20 years; establishing a permanent census office; restricting the sale of oleomargarine by placing a high tax on imitation butter; providing a consular and diplomatic service for Cuba; establishing an extensive system by which the government will aid in the irrigation of the arid sections of the west.

War Revenue Tax Repealed.

The repeal of the war revenue taxes reduced taxation $73,250,000, and is said to be the largest single reduction of taxation ever made in this country. By this step the last of the taxes levied at the beginning of our war with Spain was wiped out. The Philippine tariff act imposes 75 per cent. of the Dingley tariff rates on articles coming from the Philippines to the United States, and also imposes on articles entering the Philippines from the United States the rates of duties established by the Philippine commission. The oleomargarine act results from several years of agitation. It places a tax of ten cents a pound on substances colored to imitate butter.

Irrigation Act.

The irrigation act is of special importance to the development of the west. It creates an irrigation fund, the treasury department into which is to be paid the proceeds of the sales of public lands in the arid states. This fund in turn is to be used in storing water and establishing irrigation systems, the irrigated sections to be open to homesteaders, who are to be charged a proportionate share of the cost of the improvement.

Chinese Exclusion.

The Chinese exclusion law continues exclusion "until otherwise provided by law," and also applies the exclusion "to the island territory under the jurisdiction of the United States."

Still Pending.

Aside from these important laws there are a number of other measures of general importance, which have passed one or both houses, but have not progressed to the final stage. These include the anti-anarchy legislation, which grew out of the assassination of President McKinley. Bills restricting anarchy and throwing safeguards about the president have passed both branches of congress, but it has been impossible to reach an agreement in conference, so that the subject goes over until next December. A bill giving statehood to Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma, known as the omnibus statehood bill, passed the house and the senate has determined to take up the matter early in the next session.

The ship subsidy bill secured early attention in the senate, but the end of the session has come without the measure being reported to the house. As it passed the senate the bill grants graded subsidies to the United States, and the senate has determined to take up the matter early in the next session.

The ship subsidy bill secured early attention in the senate, but the end of the session has come without the measure being reported to the house. As it passed the senate the bill grants graded subsidies to the United States, and the senate has determined to take up the matter early in the next session.

Several other measures have advanced to a certain stage and have then halted without much prospect for further advancement. These include the bill for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people. It passed the house by practically a unanimous vote, but in the senate has received little attention and is not likely to pass.

The house passed a bill relating to the immigration laws, codifying and amending these laws relating to important changes. It has been reported to the senate, but there is not much prospect of its passage at this session. The bill defining the meaning of conspiracy in injunction cases passed the house of representatives but has not made much progress in the senate. On the other hand the senate passed an important measure creating a department of commerce, to be presided over by a cabinet officer, but it has made no progress in the house, not having been reported from the committee on commerce.

Another bill of interest to the commercial world in the pure food measure which was drafted by the Pure Food congress, and after extended hearings was reported from the house committee on commerce but not passed.

The Appropriations.

Senator Allison announced the total appropriations for the session by bills as follows: Agriculture, $5,395,990; army, $91,530,138; diplomatic and consular, $1,567,225; District of Columbia, $3,447,822; fortifications, $2,390,555; Indian, $3,145,929; legislative, etc., $25,000,331; military academy, $3,527,234; navy, $73,675,993; pension, $123,842,230; post office, $138,418,588; river and harbor, $38,728,442 (exclusive of contracts authorized); sundry civil, $90,125,359; deficiencies, $23,003,011; miscellaneous, $2,600,000; isthmian canal, $50,200,000; permanent annual appropriations, $123,921,220; grand total, $90,130,837. The total last year was $79,333,575.

LIQUOR AT THE CAPITOL.

How the Statesmen of Early Days Used to Stimulate Themselves When Framing Laws.

Now that some of the followers of the water wagons in the house and senate are threatening to abolish the sale of liquors from the restaurants of the great building on the hill, and the Washington authorities have imposed fines of $300 each on the keepers of the house and senate restaurants, it is interesting to look back and see how the liquid refreshments were dispensed in the days gone by, says the Chicago Tribune.

When Webster, Calhoun and other legislative giants wanted to wet their whistles when engaged in making and amending laws for their country, they visited what was known as the "Hole in the Wall," a small room not far removed from the post office of the senate, which at that time occupied the present supreme court chamber. This small circular room, which got the name of the "Hole in the Wall," was likewise the first restaurant the upper house ever knew, and, as may well be imagined, the menu was not to be compared to that of the present-day restaurant, the great statesmen being satisfied with a sandwich of cold beef, tongue, ham, turkey, or a few hard-boiled eggs.

While the "feed" was slow, the fluid was plentiful, and of the best, adulterated and blended whiskies not being tolerated. The liquor was good, and, as a rule, the big men took big drinks. The "Hole in the Wall" was for the convenience of senators and members, and it was seldom that the ordinary citizen managed to get a chance to let the place know his presence. Of course, the statesmen were permitted to take their friends in for a friendly bumper, but the proprietor generally turned them out when not accompanied by a senator or representative. To some extent the "Hole in the Wall" was a blind tiger, and the proprietor was afraid of being "pulled."

When the new senate wing of the capitol was finished, provision was made in its basement for the present restaurant and post office. Later on the library absorbed the old post office, incidentally taking in the "Hole in the Wall," but to-day the little circular room remains as a reminder of legislative convivialities of the days long gone.

When the Hole in the Wall disappeared there sprung up the sideboard adjunct for the committee-rooms, and these flourished with a high hand for many years, and, in truth, some of these wet goods arrangements still find good in a few of the rooms of the have-all-he-wants senators. These sideboard arrangements were fearfully abused by many who were permitted to visit the rooms, and finally they were regarded as a nuisance. And, too, some of the papers throughout the country began to make a protest at the large sums annually set forth by the secretary of the senate as having been expended for "snuff, quinine, bear's oil, pills," etc., but which, in fact, went for the genuine old Indian fighter. The committee-room bar was anything but a success, and gave the senators a vast amount of annoyance from the fellows who were ever ready to pan-handle a little liquid refreshments.

It was in 1866 that Henry Wilson introduced a resolution in congress abolishing the sale of whisky in the building. The resolution passed, but it was never effective, and from that day to the present it has not been difficult for a drink hunter to get all he wanted, although at intervals it has been announced that the sale of liquor has ceased.

EXTINCTION OF SEA FISH.

A Question That Is Positively Answered in the Negative by Competent Authority.

In his article on "Marine Fish-De-stroyers" in Harper's, Dr. McIntosh, of the Gatty Marine Laboratory, says that game laws protecting sea fish are utterly unnecessary, and states that no food fish of the sea has become extinct in modern times.

"The sum total of all the losses to fish life by the living whales, not to allude to the hordes of predaceous sharks and dog-fish in every ocean, nor to the vast destruction of food-fishes by each other, must far exceed the efforts of man. If to this is added the constant drain caused by the innumerable seals, fishing-birds and sea-otters, the grand total must, indeed, exceed belief. It is not long since a Dundee whaler could sail for 60 miles past ice-floes covered with young seals in countless numbers, yet were the sea fishes not seriously affected.

"Seeing that statistics at present are either unreliable or adverse, and that the food-fishes gain no real protection, it may be asked, what need has man to make laws and pass by-laws, close great areas and shut certain fishermen out of the sea within the three-mile limit? Nature, as revealed in her life- histories of the fishes, pays scant respect to such regulations. The only apparent result that can follow is the protection afforded to lines and nets from the powerful apparatus used in other methods of fishing. The extinction of no species of food-fish has taken place in modern seas."

Disagreeable Things.

There are a good many disagreeable things in the world. Don't let them worry you too much; there will not be much change in your time. Be careful of your own conduct; that is the best way. The man whose behavior is not good, and who annoys you, will have more trouble than you will have.—Alphons Globe.

IMPACTED EAR WAX.

Sometimes the Cause of Imperfect Hearing—Great Care Necessary in Its Removal.

The normal secretion of the orifice of the ear is the product of glands situated on the outer half of the canal only. This secretion—the cerumen, or ear-wax—is slowly poured from the gland ducts as a thin, yellowish liquid. As it quickly loses a large amount of its watery element by evaporation and becomes admixed with dust, it forms a thin layer, wax-like in color and consistency, which normally covers only the outer portion of the canal—that in which the glands are located, says the Youth's Companion.

This layer of material probably has its chief function in common with the few small hairs in the same location, in protecting the vibratory membrane—the drum—from the contact of dust.

It is interesting to observe that the exit of this layer of wax is accomplished by nature chiefly with the aid of the motion communicated to the canal by the movements of the jaw in chewing and talking, a motion readily felt by touching the orifice with the finger-tips during these processes. The constant increase of the secretion is therefore provided with a corresponding loss which takes place almost as imperceptibly as the constant loss of the superficial layer of the skin from the surface of the body.

This explanation serves to make clear why the use of ear-spoons, pins or hairpins is unnecessary. The use of such objects is not only superfluous, but it is often the cause of the very condition which those who use them would prevent.

Even too vigorous washing with a twisted cloth or sponge, for example, may result in pushing the wax back into the canal until a mass sufficient to block the entire opening is accumulated.

The first intimation of the presence of impacted wax is often the sudden occurrence of a considerable degree of deafness. This is most likely to happen on a damp day or just after, or during a bath. A slight amount of moisture causes the mass to swell so that the narrow chink previously existing between the mass and the canal is closed. If it is not now removed, the mass may shrink and the hearing power be temporarily restored, only to be lost again when conditions arise causing an increase in the size of the mass.

Firm, gentle syringing with warm water from a piston ear-syringe is usually regarded as the safest and best method of removing the mass, the handling of which had better be entrusted to a physician or trained nurse, if possible.

GIRL WHO WENT FISHING.

She Caught a Fish and with Calmness and Dignity Sat Down on It and Screamed.

I lifted with might and main. The whet of a finned tail, a fleeting glimpse of dusky scale and scarlet speckles became suddenly correlated in my mind with the fact that one of my boots was full of water, and my line was swinging high in the air—the hook gone, the gut leader ripped off short, says Country Life in America. It was small work to go to the tent for the other pole. One does not expect all luck to be good luck in fishing. Back on my stone perch I flung my line into the air at random, and the bait struck the water just below the little catfish. A tug, mighty as the first, and fully as prompt, nearly lost me my balance, but it steadied my nerve. One thought, one purpose filled my mind—I must get that fish to shore. The trees on shore began to move in a circle, of which I was the center. With joy I saw my angry captive flash out of the water; then came an instant of despair. He was off—the curve on which the rose was complete and he fell forward—right at me! The up curve was a forlorn hope—the down curve was a perfect assurance. I knew my fish would never escape me. By all the laws of dramatic unity and poetic justice, he was mine. For in his gaping mouth I read a startling revelation. He was bringing back those two hooks! He struck the water in that little basin shut in by the three jutting rocks, and I sat down upon him! I did it calmly, and I trust with dignity, but without delay. He was in a trap that needed but a lid. I was that lid. There I could answer my father's call, for the dazed fish had found a corner, and a groping thumb and finger had found the back of his neck. My repressed feelings broke forth in one long, ambiguous, feminine scream.

NIGHTMARE CAUSES DEATH.

Brooklyn Girl Expires After Awful Dream, the Nature of Which She Is Unable to Tell.

Mary Hendrickson leaped from her bed in her home at 411 Cumberland street, Brooklyn, late the other night, and screamed. Her mother, who slept in the same room, had just gone to bed. When she saw the girl jump up she ran and helped her back to bed. The family physician, Dr. A. C. Howe, was called, but the girl was dead when he arrived.

The Hendricksons said that their daughter had been subject to nightmares for a year or more. She often screamed in her sleep. When she awoke, however, she was never able to tell what she had seen. She simply knew that something dreadful seemed to happen to her. Sometimes it would be two or three days before she would recover.

Dr. Hartung, the coroner's physician, filed a report saying that the girl had died of acute dilation of the heart. Because of the serious effect of nightmares on the girl, who was 17 years old, she always slept in the same room with her mother and father. So far as the parents or any of the household know, there had been nothing in the course of the day which might have induced extraordinary dreams at night.

CROSSES SEA IN A BOILER.

How a Young Dalmatian Succeeded in Reaching America and Finds Friend After Arriving.

Stowaways often find odd hiding places, but Bozo Gicano, a well-built, bright-looking young Dalmatian, who came over on the Cunarder Umbria, discovered the queerest of them all. He got aboard the Umbria at Liverpool the day before the vessel sailed and crawled into the boiler of the donkey engine, which is used for distilling water when the regular supply runs short. His hiding place was known to some of the stokers, who fed him on coffee and scraps of bread, and he remained in his somewhat overheated quarters for three days, when he was discovered.

Nobody could understand Bozo's language, and upon the ship's arrival at New York he was taken to Ellis Island. An immigration inspector is a Dalmatian, and one of the score or fewer in the city who speak the dialect. He found that Bozo had come here to seek a friend, Felix Gicano, and all that he knew about Felix was that he worked in a gashouse in the city. Commissioner Williams said that if Felix could be found he would release the boy. Fortune was with Bozo once more, and in less than an hour he had located his friend Felix among the little colony of Slavs.

INLAND TRAINING STATION.

Provision Made by Congress for Naval School Somewhere Along the Great Lakes.

Notwithstanding the determined fight made against providing for a naval training station on the great lakes, this legislation has been enacted, and as the naval appropriation bill went to the president, it contained an item making provision for a naval station in the west. The secretary of the navy is directed to appoint a board composed of naval officers, whose duty it shall be to select on the great lakes a suitable site for a naval training station.

Having selected a site, if it is located on private land, the board is directed to estimate the value and ascertain as nearly as practicable the price for which it can be purchased, and to make a detailed report to the secretary of the navy, who is directed to transmit the report to congress with recommendations.

In order to defray the expenses of the board an appropriation of $5,000 is made. This amount becomes available immediately, and before the summer has ended the board will visit Chicago to look over the field.

OFFER TO ASTRONOMERS.

Michigan Professor Proposes to Enlighten Them on Certain Points at So Much Per Head.

A remarkable petition was received the other day at Washington from Prof. Theodore Munger, of Rochester, Mich., that attracted much attention among members of congress. It was addressed to Representative S. W. Smith, of Michigan, and he secured its reference to a proper committee. The petition states that Prof. Munger "knows and understands how nature turns the earth," and he agrees to explain it to the world provided he receives five cents from each astronomer in all nations who teach astronomy. He understands that $50,000 has been offered for "anyone who can determine why the gyroscope top makes such peculiar moves."

Prof. Munger, who announces that he has been a student of science for 50 years, guarantees to develop some entirely new principles, especially in explanation of the gyroscope top. "Kicks against this petition will be considered a hindrance to the cause of science" is the warning sentence which closes the petition.

A Tie.

The presence of the dusky-hued Chicago-Union Giants in the city Saturday caused heavy rain clouds to gather and misty showers to fall and it was thought that the game was to be declared off on account of rain. But about five o'clock the rain eased a little and the teams lined up for trouble before 300 fans of the calibre that will go to a ball game in the face of a Mount Pelee eruption. The skies were so dark that it was difficult to judge flies and the grass was so slippery, the diamond so muddy that it was hard to corral the ball, but despite these hindrances the game was fast enough to make the wet grass assume a lurid hue. It was as crowded with good plays, as a neglected sugar beet field is with weeds, and after nine innings of heroic efforts during which the fortunes of war favored first one side and then another with a swift change of change that caused the fans to linger on the brink of nervous prostration the game stood 6 to 6 in favor of a tie and a tie it had to be declared by Umpire "Tards" Ver Schure, for the drizzling rain and a black sky made it necessary to call the game on account of darkness.

Both pitchers, Ball and Lytle, were hit quite freely, but both were good at critical moments making the game a thing of joy to the J. A. Van Patten pattern. Tibald shone with dazzling brightness in a double play and a home run, Fairfield revealed in safe hits and all of the boys played steady ball. The chocolate colored visitors were stunned to silence when the game reached the tie point and their scowling glances at each other bespoke the humiliation they would feel if defeat should be their lot. The question of supremacy will be settled at a later date.

Bissells Annihilated.

It might have been more interesting had Jimmy VerStay pitched all the time but as it was the game Tuesday between Holland and the Bissells was a dull, featureless affair. Neither team did big league work but the Holland boys had far and away the best of the argument. Ball was in the box for Holland and pitched a shut-out game, but a little shady work by the other boys gave the awkward looking visitors a chance to sneak in a run.

A slip of a fellow weighing 93 pounds was in the box for the Bissells and though he wasn't "such a much" and gave bases on balls with great generosity, the locals were unable to find him more than passing fair until the seventh inning when they landed on the feathery fellow so hard that he was sent to center field and Jimmy went in the box. In the last half of the seventh Ball struck one over towards the left fielder who happened to be suffering with dimness of vision to such an extent that he could not find the ball and while he was waiting for some one else to locate it Vander Hill and Ball ran in. Jimmy went in the box about this time but he was a trifle wild, the catcher couldn't hold him, and before the Holland boys were retired they brought in another run just to show that they could do it to Jimmy.

In the eighth more things were done to Jimmy. Four runs were made off his delivery but he did not care for this. What he cared for was when Tibald added insult to injury by stealing his patent on base cutting and giving third base the go-by by three rods. Jimmy protested. Others protested, but the game went merrily on. The Bissells did not play their usual game. Their fielding was ragged and their base running was wretched. Score: Holland 11; Bissells 1. Umpire Ver Schure.

Another Shut-out by Karsten.

It was too bad that rain kept the Post Boy from going to White Lake with a crowd to see the ball game yesterday for it was worth a 50 mile trip. Karsten pitched a record breaker, striking out 16 men and allowing but one to get to first base up to the eighth inning. Though the diamond was made up of hills and valleys and miniature forests the Holland boys fielded brilliantly and shut out the White Lakers by a score of 2 to 0. Poppe and Paine did the battery work for White Lake and so effective was Poppe's delivery that the visitors made but six clean hits.

The White Lake club will come here for a return game in a couple of weeks and a rapid contest may be expected as they will be loaded decks to with fast men in an effort to wipe out the defeat of yesterday.

In a finely fielded game at Fennville Saturday Fennville won against the Allegan nine, which had been strengthened by the addition of Gilbert of Kalamazoo and two of the Otsego nine. Speaker of Fennville pitched a beautiful game, striking out 17 and allowing but four singles off his delivery. Caswell and Carroll, the Detroit battery, were in the points for Allegan, but the left handed batters of the banner peach county secured 11 clean hits and won the game by a score of 3 to 1.

The Garlands, strengthened by the addition of every good ball player in Grand Rapids whom they can impress into service, will be here tomorrow to try conclusions with the locals in two games that promise to be fast enough to keep the crowd at fever heat of excitement. It is intimated from the camp of the Garlands that they have gathered together one of the fastest bunches that ever left Grand Rapids for tomorrow's game and that they are confident of throwing the exploits of Greenville and Ionia into the shade. The first game will be called at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the second at 3:30 in the afternoon.

Ionia defeated Fennville Tuesday at Ionia by a score of 12 to 3. Pease of Fennville made a home run. After the third inning Ionia slugged the ball all over the field.

Marshal, of Zeeland, the new man signed by the Holland club to play in right field, not fields his position well but is very handy with the stick and when he hits the ball it has a habit of going over the heads of the outfielders of the opposing team. There are now ten men in the club.
